Lifestyle Landscapes Earns 4-Star Envirostars Certification

(Seattle, Washington) June 12, 2006– Lifestyle Landscapes, a Seattle-based landscaping design/build firm, has earned Envirostars certification. Sponsored by the Local Hazardous Waste Management Program of King County, Envirostars recognizes businesses for reducing hazardous waste and materials by awarding them a two-to-five star rating. Lifestyle Landscapes has been awarded four stars.

“Our team values the environment and was happy to identify ways to be more earth friendly in our processes and material choices,” comments Arlene Wing, President of Lifestyle Landscapes, Inc. “We are pleased to have taken part in this certification program and encourage other businesses considering a greener approach to contact Envirostars.”

Practices that qualified Lifestyle Landscapes for this rating included skilled plant selection to minimize the amount of resources needed to grow healthy plants. Other measures prevented toxic runoff that could contaminate local streams, such as banning pesticides or weed and feed and using slow-release and organic fertilizer, rather than chemical fertilizer.
