Seattle, Washington, January 15, 2003 – Several landscape design ideas created by Lifestyle Landscapes, Inc. award-winning landscape Design Team will be shown at the Seattle Home Show. In keeping with the Idea Street concept, these design vignettes will be constructed by Lifestyle Landscapes to present a variety of landscape solutions.

Idea Street includes four large displays that include complete homes constructed specifically for the Home Show. Lifestyle Landscapes will construct their landscape ideas at number 080, Idea Street. The designs for Lifestyle Landscapes' display include:

A naturalized landscape featuring river birch trees under-planted with spring bulbs.

"Seattle Home Show Idea Street is a perfect opportunity for our design team to offer examples of landscape concepts", said Arlene Wing, Lifestyle Landscapes President. "Visitors will have the opportunity to explore these concepts to learn how they might fit their home and lifestyle. Our design team will have the opportunity to answer visitor questions and explain the advantages of each landscape idea."
